Enable Hosts Indian Dance Event February 27

On Saturday, February 27, Enable will host an evening of Indian Dance and a Bazaar, featuring the Satrangi School of Dance. Satrangi, which is known throughout the United States and Canada for its thrilling “Bollywood” style dance, is producing a special performance for Enable. This fundraiser will support Enable’s services and programs to enable people with disabilities and seniors to live independently in their own homes.

Doors open at the Princeton High School Performing Arts Center at 5 pm to allow guests to enjoy the Bazaar and partake of traditional Indian cuisine, clothing and jewelry vendors. The Satrangi performance begins at 7 pm. The Bazaar will also be available for guests during the Intermission.

Tickets are priced at $25 for adults and $15 for children ages 12 and under. A limited number of special reserved seats are available for patrons at $50 per ticket. To purchase tickets, click here.

“The Winter Manmohini 2016 performance is a wonderful partnership between Enable and Satrangi,” said Sharon Copeland, Enable’s Chief Executive Officer. “This spectacular evening of dance contains a story line created by Satrangi. It will bring to life Enable’s values of choice, independence and inclusion for seniors and people with disabilities through movement, color and music.”

ABOUT SATRANGI FUSION. Satrangi was founded by Roheet Boxi in 2001 in New Jersey. Over the years it has grown into a full-fledged company with over 4,000 graduate students and centers in NJ, NY, Ohio, Illinois, and Vancouver, British Columbia. Satrangi believes in teaching and inculcating respect for dance, its techniques, and its presentation. Satrangi is known for its unique fusion of dance moves, an amalgamation of Indian dance forms with western steps such that the dances are not only interesting but communicate to audiences across cultural borders. Satrangi sponsors Dance with Wings, a nonprofit initiative that brings dance to children and families living with autism, Down syndrome and physical challenges. It reflects the founder’s belief that dance and music have healing power.
